

A voice-enabled CPD log for clinicians.

Opportunities for learning and reflection often arise from day-to-day clinical practice. This is a valuable form of CPD because it links directly to your work, but documenting it can feel time-consuming and burdensome.

Learning Log helps you capture these moments while they are still fresh in your mind, recording what you learned, your reflection on it, and any impact it has had, or may have, on your future practice. Whether you're in clinic, on a ward, attending a meeting or reading at home, Learning Log makes it simple to capture learning and reflection as it happens.

Prefer not to type? You can speak your thoughts instead. Learning Log converts your spoken reflection into a clear, well-structured CPD entry, ready to review and export to your appraisal platform of choice. It doesn't change the meaning of what you say, but it can help you express your learning and reflection more clearly and effectively. This can be particularly valuable for clinicians who struggle to put their thoughts into words, or simply want a faster way to record their learning. By making reflection easier to document, Learning Log helps you build a richer portfolio of evidence to support more meaningful appraisal and revalidation.

Learning Log is more than an appraisal companion. The News section brings together the latest healthcare news, research and alerts, organised by clinical category. The Jobs section lists thousands of healthcare vacancies across the UK, updated daily. The Favourites section allows you to save useful articles, guidelines, websites and resources, with seamless synchronisation between your phone and browser.

The Learning Log browser extension makes it easy to capture learning while you work. Save useful resources to your favourites, create log entries directly from webpages, and record reflections using either voice or text. Everything automatically syncs with your mobile app, ensuring your learning records are always available, whether you captured them at your desk or on the move.

There is no single prescribed format for recording CPD. Learning Log provides a structured framework based on the information commonly required for appraisal and revalidation. When the time comes, your records can be exported as PDF documents, ready to upload to your appraisal toolkit of choice.
